Soviet Jet Fighters Attack French Plane

4 Passengers, Crewmen Hit By Red Bullets

Air France Liner Traveling Corridor Over Soviet Zone

BERLIN — (AP)—Two Russian jet fighters attacked an Air France commercial airliner with cannon and machinegun fire in the Allied air corridor over the Soviet zone today. Two German passengers were wounded and two crew members nicked by bullets.

The airliner, en route to Berlin with 11 passengers and six crewmen aboard, ducked behind cloud cover after the fighters made four passes. It reached Berlin's Tempelhof airdrome safely half an hour after the attack.

Fuselage Riddled

The fuselage was riddled, but fortunately none of the shots hit a vital part of the plane. None of the passengers or crewmen was an American.

The Allied high commission at Bonn sent a stern protest to the Soviet Control Commission immediately.

Commercial flights between Berlin and Western Germany were cancelled temporarily by Allied officials, but the embargo was lifted gradually a few hours later.

Count 20 Holes

Air France's four-engine Douglas plane arrived at Tempelhof from Frankfurt with five cannon holes the size of a fist in the fuselage and wings. Inspecting crews said they counted 20 to 25 holes in the plane altogether. A first report by U. S. air officers that there were 89 bullet holes was discounted later as exaggerated.

The Air France office said the two wounded on the airliner were Mrs. Irmgard Nebel of Frankfurt, who was hit in the abdomen, and Walter Kurth of Bad Homburg, wounded in the arm and thigh. Mrs. Nebel was taken to a hospital where pieces of 20-millimeter ammunition were removed.

The French pilot said he was flying precisely in the center of the air corridor over the Russian zone, when two jets made four passes at him and unloaded bursts of cannon and machinegun fire.

The co-pilot and steward also were nicked by bullets.

The Hameses Are Parents of Son, Herbert Edward

This story will probably rate a bulletin status in the Ottawa Republican-Times today.

And to many Dixon area folk, it will be glad tidings also.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hames, Ottawa, are the parents of a son born at 1 p. m. today in the Dixon Public hospital. The father is a former editorial staff member of The Dixon Evening Telegraph. The mother is the former Florence Bevilacqua of Nelson—and Dixon.

The infant checked in at seven pounds, two ounces, and was promptly named Herbert Edward Hames.

The news was literally flashed to the news room of The Republican-Times where "Pop" is the managing editor. There were shouts of "Stop the presses!" when the news arrived.

Herbert Edward, we suspect, will be nicknamed "Flash."

To complete the details, the youngster's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Victoria Bevilacqua, Nelson. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hames sr. of Chicago.

U.S. Attorney Denies Claim For President

Truman's Powers Not Unlimited, He Tells Court

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The government's chief attorney in the steel seizure case said today he does not claim that President Truman holds unlimited powers.

Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldrige asserted, in a statement filed with the Federal district court here, that if that court had understood such a claim to have been made, he desired to correct it.

Baldrige represented the government last week in arguments before District Judge David A. Pine on the plea of the steel companies that the court nullify the presidential seizure of the steel industry.

Expect Ruling

Pine's ruling could come today, but court attaches said it might not be ready until tomorrow.

Baldrige argued before Judge Pine that Truman had acted properly to protect the public welfare under "inherent powers" held by the chief executive. He said then that the constitution limits the legislative and judicial branches, but not the executive authority.

This argument drew a storm of protests from steel company lawyers—as well as many members of congress later—and Baldrige was subjected to close questioning on the point by Judge Pine.

The House Judiciary committee, meanwhile, met to consider a batch of Republican-sponsored proposals for Truman's impeachment or censure for the seizure action. GOP members pressed for a showdown on the proposals.

Can Ask Raising

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, detailed by Truman to take charge of the seized steel mills, notified the companies today that they may apply immediately for a $3-a-ton increase in steel prices.

Such an increase would move the cost of steel up to about $113 a ton.

The $3 increase is the limit fixed by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), which granted the cost boost under the Capehart amendment to the controls law, an amendment that permits industries to pass on to the consumer increased costs up to and including last July 26.

Not Enough

Industry leaders have said the $3 increase isn't enough to meet the 26-cent-an-hour package pay hike approved by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) for the CIO Steelworkers union.

Steel company men say it may be necessary to increase steel prices by as much as $12 a ton to meet the WSB-endorsed terms.

Backers Write Off Campaign Funds, Charge

Senator Says Three Wealthy Men Get 90 Per Cent Relief

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del.) told the Senate today three wealthy citizens have been permitted to charge off of their income taxes 90 per cent of "loans" made to the Democratic committees in the years 1940 through 1948.

Williams named the three as Marshall Field of Chicago, Richard J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., and David A. Schulte of New York.

The Delaware senator, whose charges helped spur the congressional investigation of Internal Revenue Bureau scandals, displayed what he said were copies of bureau letters authorizing the three to charge off as non-business debts, the major share of loans he said totalled $310,000 from Reynolds, $50,000 from Field and $50,000 from Schulte.

Describing these as "contributions," Williams said:

"A summary of these decisions shows that the Democratic party has, through these favorable rulings, been financing a part of their political campaign indirectly out of the federal treasury."

"I am opposed to either political party financing its campaign either directly or indirectly out of the federal treasury."

"However, if the treasury department is going to allow large contributions to the Democratic party to be classified as loans, and thereby become legitimate income tax deductions, then I shall insist that the same consideration be given to contributors to the Republican party."

Mercury Hits 90 Degrees in Dixon Today!

It was 90 degrees in Dixon this afternoon.

The July-like reading was recorded at 1:30 p. m. today by the weather observers at the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois.

And the silver line was still hanging at the 90 mark 15 minutes later, the last time a report was issued.

Fair and continued warm was forecast for tonight and Wednesday in an Associated Press weather report. A low of 55 is expected tonight and a high of 88 Wednesday.

The temperature here Monday at 4 p. m. hit a high of 88 for the day.

Potatoes on Black Market Status Here

A survey of retail and wholesale grocers in Dixon has revealed that potatoes, on local market, are going up and out—up in price and out of sight.

The price rise, according to one wholesaler, is due to the "run" on potatoes in Dixon markets.

"Yesterday we had the warehouse full," he told a reporter, "and today they're almost gone."

And, in the groceries, where the "run" is creating a shortage, three, four and sometimes five small bags can be found in the open with a grocer indicating that larger quantities can be had via the back door.

The reason explained one grocer, is that this is "between-seasons" for the potato crop and only a comparatively few are being brought to Chicago. Yesterday, went one report, only 95 carloads were brought into the Chicago market.

Many customers have turned to eating the more expensive seed potatoes but, as one wholesaler said, things still aren't as bad as in Wisconsin.

"They're rationing them up there," he said.

Visit of Grand Exalted Ruler Of Elks Will Highlight 3-Day 50th Anniversary Program

The Dixon Elks lodge, founded May 12, 1902, Wednesday will open a three-day jubilee celebration to be highlighted by the visit here Wednesday of the grand exalted ruler, Howard Davis, Williamsport, Pa.

This significant event in Dixon's history will begin tomorrow night with an open house in the afternoon and evening for Elks members and the initiation of a golden jubilee class of approximately 70 members.

Plan Reception

Wednesday's program also includes open house for Elks members and their ladies, the arrival of the grand exalted ruler and his party at 3:30 p. m., a reception for distinguished guests, followed by the official 50th anniversary banquet to be held in the Loveland building. There will be dancing later at the Elks club.

The program Friday will also consist of an afternoon and evening open house for members, an early-evening stag, smorgasbord, games and other entertainment.

The local lodge had as its first clubrooms on the third floor of the Elchler building on the corner of Galena and First street and within two years moved to the Bovey building on the corner of First and Ottawa, now occupied by the Dixon Water Co. and the Lee County Health Department.

Occupied In 1912

In 1911, ground for the present fine lodge building was broken and the building was occupied on March 11, 1912. The event was marked with a banquet at which J. Hamilton Lewis, a distinguished political figure of that day spoke.

The building was not officially dedicated until June 13, 1913.

Within seven years after occupying the building, the debt had been erased and in 1923 additional improvements to the interior were made. Today the local lodge stands as one of the finest equipped and most capably operated of any in the area.

First Officers

First officers of the Dixon lodge were A. C. Eaton, exalted ruler; Tim Sullivan, leading knight; J. H. Miller, loyal knight; J. W. Null, lecturing knight; T. W. Fuller, chaplain; William B. McMahon, secretary; F. E. Morris, treasurer; F. J. Miller, Esquire; C. C. Bachus, inner guard; C. C. Kelley, tiler; and L. O. Rosbrook, E. W. Smith and F. W. Murray, trustees.

Eaton and Rosbrook are recorded as the two of the three who petitioned for a charter here.

Tim Sullivan, Dixon, is the only surviving charter member of the local lodge. The fiftieth anniversary booklet produced in honor of the event was dedicated to him.

Bundesen Indictment Quashed

CHICAGO — (AP)—The criminal court today threw out an indictment voted against Dr. Herman H. Bundesen, former Chicago health commissioner, during an investigation of the horse meat scandal.

The indictment alleged nonfeasance in office, or failure to carry out the duties of the president of the Chicago board of health.

Kentucky Basketball Fixers Given Suspended Sentences

NEW YORK — (AP)—General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit today gave suspended sentences to three former University of Kentucky basketball stars for conspiring to shave points on a basketball game and declared the university and Coach Adolph Rupp "must share the responsibility."

The players, Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, members of Kentucky's "Fabulous Five" of 1948 and 1949, were placed on "indefinite probation."

Plead Guilty

They had pleaded guilty to fixing the point spread in a National Invitation tournament game with Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden, March 14, 1949. Loyola won 67-56, in a resounding upset.

Judge Streit described the extended use of athletic scholarships in certain American colleges as "the darkest blot on American college athletics."

He asserted the defendants and other athletes of the Kentucky teams "with the full knowledge of the coach, were covertly subsidized in violation of amateur rules," that "unqualified students were matriculated on athletic scholarships," and that "cribbing at examinations by these defendants was encouraged and tolerated by university officials."

Ogle Grand Jury Indicts 10; Name Two on Morals Charges

OREGON—The Ogle county grand jury returned 10 indictments here yesterday, including two against Oregon men arrested on morals charges.

An Oregon rural school teacher was placed on bond $3,000, charged with taking indecent liberties with a student, a 12-year old boy, on March 15. He is James Lippert.

A second Oregon man, Halle Jones Jr., rural Oregon, was indicted for the rape of a 13-year-old girl. He is being held on $3,000 bond.

Named for Larceny

Russell D. Warner, Rochelle, was named for larceny of $226 and placed in county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond. He is accused of stealing the money from H. D. Campbell, also of Rochelle, on Feb. 26.

Three men were named for parts in theft of $225 worth of cable and other material from a phone company at Stillman Valley. They are Alfred Pincombe, rural Rockford, Harold Eads, Belvidere, and James Court, no address given. Court has not been taken into custody. Bond for Pincombe and Eads was set at $2,000 each.

Three Named

Three men were named who were charged with burglary of the home of Fannie Benson, Creston, Dec. 15. They are Dallas Schuler, Laverne Donovan and Thomas Haws.

Each is being held on bond of $2,500, Haws in the Winnebago county jail and the other two in county jail at Oregon.

Mark B. Swanson, Rockford, elevator operator at Byron, is charged with giving a fraudulent check for $5,000 to Robert E. Smith, Polo, on March 7. Bond was set at $2,500.

Court has not been taken into custody.

Hike Interest Rates on U. S. Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Treasury today revamped its entire multi-billion-dollar savings bond program, raising interest rates all along the line.

Sale of two of the current series of saving bonds—F and G bonds—will be discontinued effective Thursday. But three new types of bonds will be offered.

The familiar series "E" defense bonds—the type held by most individuals—will be continued.

But interest rates for the full period of the bond will be raised from 2.9 per cent to 3 per cent.

And buyers will get a much bigger increase in interest rates after the first few years they hold the bond.

The changes will not affect "E" bonds already sold unless the bondholder wants to keep his bond after it matures. In that case, he will get the new interest rate of 3 per cent.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said the many changes are designed to improve the bond program "in keeping with the times"—apparently a reference to increased commercial interest rates.

Dixon Sow Observes Baby Week!

This is National Baby Week—and a Duroc sow on the farm operated by Paul Heckman, Rt. 3, Dixon, must figure she's done her part in the animal world!

Mother sow claims 21 offspring all her squealing own!

It all started last Thursday and did not end until yesterday afternoon. Both the number of pigs born to the sow—it's called farrowing in the farm world—and the extended period during which the births took place are, to say the least, rarities.

A normal pig litter is between seven and nine occurring within six hours at the most. This is the word of a local veterinarian. He described the Heckman sow's farrowing feat amazing.

The sow farrowed a total of 22 pigs. Nine were born last Thursday and 13 more yesterday afternoon. All but one lived.

The prolific porker evidently failed to take into consideration that she has "accommodations" for feeding but 12 pigs at a time. Right now her "multiplets" are nursing in shifts.

But that's strictly a stop-gap measure, according to Heckman. He said he intends to provide part of the litter with a commercial imitation of sow's milk unless other sows which will farrow within a few days have small litters. Then part of the big litter will, in effect, be put up for adoption to those sows.

Heckman operates a 260-acre farm owned by Noah Beard, Dixon. It is situated about a quarter-mile west of Lowell park. He has a total of 24 brood sows.

And now he is wondering what to expect of 14 of them that have yet to farrow.

Rockford Newspapers Plan To Publish Despite Pickets

ROCKFORD — (AP) — The Rockford Consolidated Newspapers, Inc. today was making plans to resume publication of its morning and afternoon newspapers which had been suspended since Friday because of mass picketing of the plant.

Publication will be resumed as soon as possible. The afternoon Register-Republic did not publish yesterday, however, and the Morning Star was not published this morning.

A temporary injunction issued yesterday by Circuit Judge William R. Dusher ordered mass picketing stopped, but it permits the AFL International Typographical union to maintain two pickets at each of three entrances.

A walkout involving the ITU began March 24, but the newspapers continued publication until the mass picketing began Friday.

In a report on the strike last week, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association's special standing committee on labor relations told the ANPA convention: "The Rockford issue is simply an ITU demand that publishers grant ITU control over use of outside typesetter tape. That demand is contrary to federal law. The Rockford publisher's offer to arbitrate was promptly rejected by the union."

The union contends the newspapers "have imported non-union people in the composing room."

The suit for the injunction was filed by 45 plaintiffs, identified as production employees of the newspapers. The pickets, standing shoulder to shoulder around the building, had prevented non-striking workers from going to their jobs.

The injunction specifically named the Rockford ITU and 48 individual defendants, including J. L. Glavin, president, and J. H. Ford, secretary-treasurer of the local union.

Ford said that in compliance with the injunction all pickets were withdrawn promptly except the six permitted.

Infant Statistics

DENVER — (AP) — An Arizona doctor says having a baby is eight times less dangerous for an American woman than it was only 20 years ago.

Dr. Preston T. Brown of Phoenix said in an interview that "A sensational development in the progress of American medicine" is responsible.

He said the national average is now less than one maternal death for each 1,000 live births. Up to 1930, the average was eight deaths of women during pregnancy or child birth for each 1,000 babies born.

Plan Naval Inquiry Into Sea Tragedy Which Took 174 Lives

arranged today for a formal inquiry into the mid-Atlantic sinking of the destroyer-minesweeper Hobson with an apparent loss of 174 lives.

Meanwhile, the 27,100-ton aircraft carrier WASP, damaged in the Saturday night collision that sent the Hobson to the bottom, steamed slowly homeward. She carried the minesweeper's 61 survivors, some of them injured seriously.

The carrier was expected to reach Brooklyn navy yard for repairs on Friday or Saturday.

174 Missing
 The original list of 176 missing in the tragedy was reduced by two when two sailors whose names appeared on it turned up safe. They had missed their ship's last voyage—one man being home on leave, the other in a naval hospital. No casualties were reported aboard the Wasp.

There still was some confusion over the exact number of missing because of a duplication of at least two names.

Adm. Lynde McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, announced in Norfolk that a formal court of inquiry would "make a full investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the sinking."

The time and location of the court will be announced shortly after the Wasp arrives in the United States, McCormick said.

A naval court of inquiry is empowered to make recommendations, but it cannot impose punishment.

Charge Unsafe
 A demand for a congressional probe came from the father of one of the missing men who said his son had told him all the enlisted men aboard the Hobson feared she "would crack up, either in heavy seas or by hitting something in the water."

Ervin S. White, sr., of Lynn, Mass., said his son told him the ship broke down several times while on cruises and was in drydock last March and again in April.

Rear Adm. W. V. O'Regan issued a statement in Norfolk denying a published report that the Hobson was unfit for sea duty. He said the ship had been inspected carefully April 2 and $24,000 had been spent in bringing the Hobson "up to the high standards demanded by the board of inspection and safety."

Two Now Safe
 The two men at first presumed missing but later reported safe

Capital Hails Gen. Ridgway's Appointment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Matthew Ridgway's appointment to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower drew mostly applause today, but Gen. Mark Clark, who gets Ridgway's old command, faced criticism in congress.

In the Pentagon, the top-level reassignments—Ridgway from Far East command to head of Allied Forces in Europe, and Clark from chief of army field forces to Far East command—were viewed by some officials as:

1. Results of a decision by President Truman to side with Gen. Omar Bradley instead of Eisenhower in choosing the new commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces.

2. Rewards to both Ridgway and Clark for past jobs well done.

The criticism of Clark came from Sen. Long (D-La.), a member of the armed services committee. He told a reporter he wants to review previous congressional investigations of Clark's World War II record and may ask for a new inquiry.

Clark's crossing of the Rapido river during the Italian campaign has been under previous congressional fire. Bitter criticism of the maneuver was voiced by members of the Texas national guard, which suffered heavy casualties.

Gen. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint chiefs of staff, reportedly favored Ridgway as NATO chief. Eisenhower, who steps down about June 1 amid a boom for his nomination as Republican candidate for president, is known to have wanted his chief of staff, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, as his successor.

Gruenther will stay on as Ridgway's chief of staff.

Marines, Weather Wait New A-Bomb Blast in Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — Two marine combat battalions waited out the weather today, waiting for their first test on atomic fire.

If clouds lift, the 2,100 men from Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Camp Lejeune, N. C., will take positions 3½ to 4 miles from an A-bomb bursting at perhaps 2,000 feet above Yucca flat tomorrow morning.

This would put them closer than 1,500 army troops last week. The soldiers were in roughly the same positions, but the explosion occurred at 3,500 feet.

After the blast, the marines will make an "attack landing" on Yucca Island, a mythical enemy-held atoll in the middle of the desert flat.

Highest point in Illinois is just 1,231 feet above sea level and is located in the northwestern corner of the state.

were Machinist Mates Third Class Waldo Kenneth Wright and Seaman Apprentice John Richard Baankston.

Wright received orders transferring him to other duty three hours before the Hobson sailed on her last journey. He was home on leave when his family received the navy message saying he was missing.

Baankston was in the naval hospital at Charleston, S. C., because of a back injury received a couple of weeks earlier.

AMBOY—County 4-H'ers are making plans to participate in summer events at Dixon sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

Members of the joint 4-H agriculture and home economics committee met with representatives of the chamber of commerce recently and formulated plans to participate in the Dixon Fourth of July celebration and Injun Summer days in August.

The groups also discussed livestock exhibiting by 4-H'ers at the annual Injun Summer festivities in Dixon.

Arrangements for 4-H participating are being made by Ed Mack and Neil Howell, Dixon, chamber of commerce committee chairman, and Art Seeds, county 4-H adviser and assistant farm adviser.

Twenty-two persons attended the meeting held Friday night at the Farm Bureau auditorium in Amboy.

Representing the 4-H were: Forrest Robbins, Clarence Holst-law, Bruce Stouffer, David Breeze, Donald Lyons, Art Seeds, June Pilgrim, Mrs. M. F. Gonnerman, Mrs. August Schlesinger and Joan Schlesinger.

Chamber of commerce representatives were:

Fred Conklin, Niel Howell, Carl Hasselburg, L. J. Welch, Walter Knack, Ed Campbell, Ed Mack, Dean Hey, Mike Lazaris, E. M. Greene, Leo Gorman and Claude Currens.

Right Now Is Time to Plant That Garden

URBANA — From April 25 to May 5—meaning right now—is the time for Northern Illinois gardeners to plant parsnips, radishes, Swiss chard and tomato seed.

That's the time-table given in the 1952 Illinois Garden Guide, written by three vegetable specialists in the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

In Central Illinois, sweet corn can be planted any time from April 25 to May 5. And in Southern Illinois those dates are the period for planting beets, carrots, cucumbers and eggplant. You can get a free copy of the Garden Guide from your farm adviser or the college of agriculture.

Warning Given on Dread Disease

URBANA—Foot and mouth disease has not appeared in the United States since 1929. But with outbreaks occurring in both Mexico and Canada, Illinois farmers are being asked to be on the alert for the disease.

It affects cattle, sheep, goats and swine, as well as any other animal with cloven hoof.

If the disease strikes, blisters appear on the tongue and about the mouth, on teats and udders, on the skin above the hoof and between the claws of the hoof. They may also appear on the snouts of swine. These blisters break in a day and form red ulcers.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH

About 250 staff members at the Illinois college of Agriculture are carrying on 325 research studies aimed at improving farming methods and rural living in this state this year.

Spittlebug Treatment Shown On Ogle, Lee County Farms

Demonstrations for control of spittlebug weevil to be held on farms in Lee and Ogle counties at 1 p. m. today.

In Lee county the demonstration was to be given at the Clarence Ackland farm, Viola township, and in Ogle county it was to be at the John Veer farm, 5 1/2 miles east of Oregon. The Veer farm is operated by Chris Draege.

Farmers who were troubled with spittlebug on hay crops in 1951 and who intend to treat this year should get started now, according to entomologists of the Illinois Natural History Survey and University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Newly hatched spittlebugs were found in fields in central Illinois on April 16. Treatment with DHC emulsion or lindane can start now before all the eggs have hatched. Toxaphene or emulsifiable methoxychlor should not be applied until spittlebug hatch is nearing completion for best results.

Treatment in Northern Illinois may start towards the middle of this week and continue for ten days to two weeks. Limiting factors on treatment are ability of the spray to penetrate into the foliage of the plant and length of time until harvest of the hay crop.

Commission was established in 1887.

Sixty to 70 years ago the railroads had a virtual monopoly on transportation, the only competitors being slow-moving traffic on canals and rivers and horse-drawn vehicles on the terribly inadequate highways.

But today railroads, especially on the shorter hauls in the Eastern states, are up against terrific competition from trucks hauling freight, and in all sections of the country they are losing passenger business to airplanes.

On a fair basis, of course, there could be no cavil against this kind of competition. But the competition is not fair between trucks, airplanes and railroads, because trucks and airplanes have been heavily subsidized by federal, state, and local governments, while on the other hand the railroads have been taxed to the limit to help furnish these subsidies for their competitors.

Therefore, the Grange is changing its views on this regulation on the railroad. In a letter to the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference, Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, wrote in part:

"We are much concerned with the consequences of the present regulatory policy. Recent events have made it all too evident that railroad bankruptcy means eventual government ownership or government subsidy—neither solution is tolerable.

It seems clearly apparent that our total transportation policy must be modernized. While it is perhaps the railroads' responsibility to carry this story to the public, yet I believe we must all be concerned.

We are, therefore, suggesting that this be a subject of study in Grange meetings throughout America.

A good committee from the Dixon chamber of commerce met last Friday evening with the joint 4-H agriculture and home economics county committee. The Dixon chamber of commerce has offered to help with the 4-H program.

Members of the 4-H Tractor Maintenance club will be able to participate in the tractor drivers' contest held in connection with the Dixon Fourth of July celebration.

Plans are being formulated to permit 4-H'ers to exhibit livestock at the annual Injun Summer festivities.

I recently received a memorandum from Dr. Walter K. Grigg, health officer with the Lee County Health Department, saying that rabies is suspected as cause of recent death of a dog in Lee county.

All dogs should be vaccinated against rabies and not permitted to roam for 30 days. Dogs should be revaccinated every 12 months.

If a human is bitten by any animal the following steps should be taken:

First—Immediately visit your family physician for treatment.

Second—The biting animal should be confined and observed for 14 days. It is very important that the animal be confined and observed and not just killed. Observation should be by a veterinarian.

If the animal shows no sign of illness during the period, it can be assured that it was non-infective.

Ground Corncobs Declared Good Cattle Bedding

Association's "Citizenship Publicity" contest for Farm Bureau publications of the state, held in connection with the April 8 Illinois primary.

Champaign county was first-place winner, and third was LaSalle county. Honorable mentions in the statewide contest for Farm Bureau went to Gallatin, Knox and Kane County Farm Bureaus.

Farm-Retail Price Spreads

The retail cost of the farm foods in the market basket for a family of three average consumers in this country equalled $222 in 1951. The consumer's dollar spent on farm food products in 1951 was evenly divided between farmers and marketing agencies at about $361 each.

The retail cost of these foods in 1951 averaged $77, or 12 per cent, above the $645 for 1950. The farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar in 1951 was two cents more than in the two preceding years, but below that received in the period 1943-48.

USDA specialists expect retail cost of foods in the market basket to be higher in 1952 than in 1951, and they expect most of the rise to be brought on by higher marketing charges instead of increased returns to farmers.

ROUGHAGE COST

Hay or other roughage to be fed on the farm should not cost a tenant so much as first-class hay on the market, because the fertility stays on the farm.

URBANA — Ground corncobs make good bedding for dairy cattle, according to a report from Vincent Kohrs, dairy herd improvement association tester in Clinton county.

Kohrs says the Oblate Fathers have been using sawdust for bedding for the past few years. But they recently changed to crushed corncobs, which they like much better. The cobs do not stick to the cows' bodies, and the cows look cleaner.

The Oblate Fathers get the corncobs from the elevator and run them through the hammermill into a bin in the dairy barn.

Legume Nitrogen Gives Large Crop

URBANA—Legume nitrogen produced larger corn crops from its carry-over effect than nitrogen fertilizers in a 15-year test at the University of Illinois agronomy farm.

Soils man L. B. Miller says a clover catch crop showed a two-bushel larger corn yield than the best nitrogen fertilizer treatment. And where a standover clover crop was grown for hay, the corn yield was from 21 to 39 bushels larger.

ROLLED BALE

Safe Deposit For Leaves

Reports from ROTO-BALER owners say that weather-resistant rolled bales contain more leaves. Livestock eat rolled hay better because it is soft, sweet and retains its natural color.

Here are some of the things farmers wanted to know:

Would rolled bales really shed showers? Would they handle and transport easily? Would livestock eat them without waste, fed whole or unrolled? Could straw for bedding be rolled out without shaking?

The ROTO-BALER has answered "yes" to each of these questions, satisfying farmers everywhere. Stop in and ask us for a free booklet on rolled bales and the ROTO-BALER.

Positive Approach Needed to Pull Korea Talks Out of Rut

Nine months ago United Nations negotiators sat down with Communist spokesmen to begin truce talks in the Korean war. Probably no such talks have ever taken so long, or proved so unproductive.

Our negotiators lately appear to have been operating under the theory that unproductive talks are better than no talks at all. Whether this is really so is a question we and our companions in the UN ought now to examine seriously. Realistically we have to accept the fact that we are in a potentially dangerous position. We cannot calmly assume that stalemated peace negotiations are to our advantage, any more than stalemated military operations are necessarily good for us.

It would be pretty foolhardy at this stage to predict glibly that a settlement is in early prospect, or in prospect at all. If no real agreement is to be achieved, then what have we gained by this painful process of talking with the Reds?

We have reduced the fighting to a minimum and thus cut casualties sharply. Yet that very gain carries within it the seeds of danger.

For during this convenient lull the Communists have built up a strong defensive air force, vastly improved their anti-aircraft emplacements, augmented their regular artillery and constructed defenses in depth. In other words, they have gone far toward recovering or surpassing the military potential they had before the UN's successful smashes in the spring of 1951.

Naturally we have not been idle in the field, either. But it was the UN force that held the edge when truce talks began, and there is no longer any assurance we still would have it. Very likely the fine fighting trim we were in at that time is a thing of the past.

The Reds needed to negotiate when the talks began. Today they continue them because the maneuver keeps us in the hole. We can see no great advantage in talking, yet the alternative of resuming full war seems worse, especially under the altered circumstances of combat.

Possibly the current course of continuing apparently fruitless talks is still the wisest. But if that is so, we ought to pursue it positively after exhaustive top-level review of the whole Korean problem.

As it stands now, we simply are drifting along in negative style, improving from day to day. We need a fresh approach that suggests more than that we are just in a rut and trying to make the best of it.

Too much is at stake in Korea to allow policy to be played by ear by the men in the field, however competent they may be. If the Korean war was worth fighting, it is worth the attention of our top men today, so that we may determine anew where we should try to go.

THE DOCTOR SAYS:
Recommend Hearing Aids
For Slight Hearing Loss

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Too many people who have lost some of their ability to hear well put off using hearing aids. Sometimes this is because they do not know their hearing has suffered. Often the family and friends of a person who is slightly deaf become aware of the hearing difficulty long before the patient does himself.

Many people who are slightly deaf for some reason feel that wearing a hearing aid hurts their pride. This is curious, because it is no more the patient's fault when the hearing becomes less acute than it is when one develops defective vision and wears glasses.

Loss of hearing of different tones usually is not equal, just as hearing loss may not be equal in both ears. Many people, for example, can continue to hear low tones just about as well as ever even after their ability to hear high tones has become seriously impaired.

Hearing is often better some days than others. A person who is slightly deaf may be able to hear spoken voices well in a relatively quiet room, but may hardly be able to hear anything when there is noise in the background, such as the noise of street cars or elevated trains.

Hearing for such things as symphonic music may be retained after ordinary business conversation has become exceedingly difficult.

Several manufacturers have acceptable instruments on the market. There are several varieties and models to choose from. Whether or not the manufacturer or agent supplies an adjustment service for those whose instruments require it is one of the factors to be used in picking the hearing aid.

In choosing a hearing aid, it is important to pick one which is, or can be, adjusted to the peculiar defects in hearing of the person who wears it. The Council on Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation (American Medical Association, 535 North Dearborn st., Chicago 10, Illinois), has prepared a list of acceptable hearing aids.

MUST KNOW HEARING LOSS

The adjustment to the individual requires some knowledge of the degree of hearing loss and the nature of it. That is, whether the loss is greater for some tones than for others.

An electrical hearing aid has many intricate parts and even if adjusted to the hearing of the wearer at first, it may require additional adjustment later on. The batteries which supply the electrical energy have to be kept up.

A hearing aid is sometimes worn for a while with satisfaction and then discarded because it does not seem to continue to supply the benefit which it did at first. This is not always the fault of the device and sometimes all that is necessary is suitable adjustment.

So They Say

The religion that the American public school system teaches is that human nature and the world are improving and that if one puts one's trust in education, intelligence and the scientific method, then... perfection will be reached.

—Dr. Arnold Nash, University of North Carolina.

There are some in government who apparently believe that if an individual spends his own money, it is inflationary, whereas if the government takes it away from him and spends it, such is not the case. This is... squirrel-cage thinking.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA) — Close-ups and Longshots: Ricky and David Nelson, the real-life progeny of Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard, are billed this way in UT's opening credits for their movie: "Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard in 'Here Come the Nelsons' With David and Ricky Nelson Two Characters Created by Ozzie and Harriet."

Lauren Bacall, warbling a duet of "Why Do I Love You" with Bing Crosby on his air show, stuck her fingers in her ears for the last four bars of the song. Lauren later explained the ear-stopping: "I get so fascinated with his harmony, I can't sing."

Audie Murphy's soft-pedaling of his Most Decorated Soldier title landed him behind the eight ball in a Kansas City radio interview before the premiere of "The Cimarron Kid."

A gushy feminine commentator tried to steer him into admitting that he won the Congressional Medal of Honor with: "And now, Audie dear, what decoration are you proudest of?"

Audie snapped: "If you must know, it was a good conduct ribbon."

THOSE WERE THE DAYS

Ex-Western hero Rex Lease, gray-haired and portly, is blushing about his 25-year-old western movies playing the TV channels. The old horse operas show him as a thin, dark-haired young man as athletic as a Fairbanks. One night his 10-year-old son, Richard, kept looking, puzzled, from the TV screen to his father and finally asked: "Is that really you, Dad—or one of your brothers?"

Rex, who collected $1,850 a week as an early day western star, now plays movie bit roles—he's a waiter in "Abbott and Costello Meet Captain Kidd"—and he plays the sheriff in the "Ma and Pa Kettle" films.

Hear about the starlet with the poodle haircut who broke her leg and was rushed to the nearest veterinarian?

It's a comic Will Jordan's line about the gun moll who decided that James Cagney and George Raft were too hard to GAT.

Bob Hope was baking out a cold in an electric cabinet on the Paramount lot when Claude Binyon passed by.

"You look just like a loaf of bread," said Claude. "Do you mind if I stick you with a broom straw?"

"Okay," said Bob, "but don't shake the oven—I might fall."

Character actor Tom Tully, while driving off the Fox lot, was forced to the curb when a starlet ahead of his car suddenly made a right-hand turn from a left hand lane.

"Hey, you!" burst out Tully, "why didn't you signal?"

"Because," chirped the doll, "I always turn here, silly!"

FLYNN TAKES CONSEQUENCE

Errol Flynn tells this story: He was stopped for exceeding the speed limit and muttered that he supposed the traffic guardian was going to give him a ticket.

"I'd like to do you a favor, Mr. Flynn," said the policeman, hauling a 50-pound manuscript out of his motorcycle tool box. "I'm a writer and this story of mine would make a great movie for you."

Errol gulped, looked at the weighty bundle of paper and groaned:

"You mean that about doing me a favor, officer?"

"You bet."

"Then save the manuscript for Clark Gable," said Errol, "and give me the ticket." Flynn got the ticket.

Kathryn Grayson's become a camera fan and is showing friends a whole collection of candid shots. One photograph, completely blacked out because of a faulty lens opening, bears her caption:

"Palm Springs taken at 15,000 feet above sea level at midnight by Kathryn Grayson (on her broom)."

Madge Kennedy, the former silent star who returns to the screen in "The Marrying Kind," tells this as her favorite story about W. C. Fields.

Madge co-starred with Fields on Broadway in "Poppy." One of the touching scenes in the play came when a petite actress named Emma Janbler appeared in a fluffy costume as a princess.

Each night, Fields would look at her tenderly as the script dictated and would murmur: "Go to your bow-wow."

But one night, Emma was too ill to play the role and her understudy, a large, stoutish woman, was rushed on stage in her place.

Fields, who had not been warned of the change, gazed at the new Amazonian princess in horror and said:

"Go to your hangar!"

PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U. S. State Department experts and European diplomats are laughing up their sleeves over the big boner pulled by Soviet Russia in its two recent notes proposing a peace treaty with a unified Germany.

In the first note, dated March 10, the Russians made this proposal:

"Civil and political rights equal to all other German citizens for participation in the Building of peace-loving democratic Germany must be made available to all former members of the German army, including officers and generals, all former Nazis, excluding those who are now serving court sentences for commission of crimes."

By this proposal to forgive all former Nazis, it was assumed that the Russians had been employing a number of ex-Hitlerite military and political leaders in East Germany, and wanted to keep on using them.

"In the second note of April 10, however, the Russians made this proposal:

"In the Soviet draft regarding the peace treaty with Germany it said: 'Germany will be permitted its own national armed forces (land, air and sea) necessary for the defense of the country.' . . . There cannot be any doubt that in the interest of peace, as in the interest of the German nation, it will be much better to create such armed forces than to create in West Germany hiring troops of re-vanchistes headed by Fascist-Hitlerite generals ready to engulf Europe in a third world war."

In other words, in this second note the Russians were opposing the employment of ex-Hitlerites by West Germany, although the first note had specifically proposed forgiving all ex-Nazis their past sins and granting them full civil and political rights.

This glaring inconsistency in the two Soviet notes is taken as a good indication of just what kind of a deal the Russians want to make on a German peace.

That 64-ruble word, "revanchistes" used in the second Soviet note, means "revengers." In diplomatic lingo, it means particularly those who try to regain lost territory.

Applied to the German case, it would mean West Germans eager to regain for a united Germany those parts of the pre-war Germany now held by Russia and Poland.

Used in the Soviet note, it is taken to mean that the Russians are opposed to any efforts to change present German boundaries.

SOVIETS DON'T THROW PLUMS

Secretary of State Dean Acheson calls the present Russian peace offensive the "golden apple tactic." He takes the name from the Greek myth in which all the gods except one were invited to a wedding.

Angered by the snub, the Goddess of Discord threw a golden apple over the fence, hoping that the other gods would start a fight over it and break up the party.

"Several apples have been tossed over the Iron Curtain this spring," Acheson told the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington. "Happily," he said, "they have not produced the discord."

HELP WANTED?

All kinds of suggestions are cropping up on jobs for Private Citizen Harry S. Truman to take after he gets out of the White House.

One is that he be made chairman of the Democratic National Committee, as the master politician of them all and as the man who could best throw harpoons into the Republicans if they win the election. Still another suggestion is that Truman be assigned to the United Nations as one of the American representatives.

MOSCOW COMPOSES CATCHY OFFER

Closer examination of the recent Moscow Economic Conference proposals has revealed a number of catches. Offers by the head of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce to make billion-dollar purchases listed machinery and herring, ball bearings and textiles, ships and citrus fruits.

The gimmick here is that the Russians can buy consumer goods—the herring, citrus fruits and textiles—any time they want to come in and lay the money on the line in any market in the world. The things they can't buy are the strategic machinery items they want as tie-ins.

INSTALLMENT BUYING OF FEDERAL BUILDINGS

A new "lease-purchase" plan for constructing new post office and federal court buildings is being urged on Congress by Jess Larson, head of General Services Administration, the governments housekeeping agency.

The big idea is to let private industry put up buildings for government to use, instead of having the government build them. The government would pay rent, but the rent payments would be applied to the purchase price in much the same manner as a private citizen buys his own home on the installment plan.

Under some circumstances, Larson figures the government's payments on a new building would be less than it now pays in rents. Also, the government would save in that it would not have to make any big capital investment.

Buildings would be built to government specifications. Investors would have guaranteed tenants and proposed deals would yield about 3 per cent on an investment during lease-purchase periods of up to 25 years.

There are now about two and a quarter billion dollars worth of government buildings authorized for which Congress has appropriated no funds.

Though there was considerable public works construction of government buildings in the depression, for the past 14 years the freeze has been on due to war and defense requirements.

Now new lease-purchase plan is offered in an effort to get new federal buildings in places like Denver and Tacoma, which have structures put up back in the 1880's.

RUTH MILLETT
This Indolent Wife Drives Husband Away From Her

Any wife is foolish who doesn't make home a place where a man is comfortable, where he feels important, and where he can find peace to work or relax at the day's end.

Yet here is a young wife who, through indolence, is neglecting all of those important points.

She sleeps late in the morning while her husband gets up and cooks his own breakfast, or if he is in a hurry, leaves for work without eating.

Hiding behind the excuse that two small children keep her so busy she can't keep up with her work, she seldom has dinner ready when her husband comes home at night.

She presses him into service as soon as he gets home, demanding help with the children, the meal, the dishes, etc. Then she decides the ideal time to get the washing done is when the children are asleep—and so she starts on that.

Her husband claims that in the evening their small house sounds like a boiler factory. If he has paper work to do at night, he has to go somewhere else to find a quiet place to work.

That young wife is, by her own lack of foresight, driving her husband away from her.

What comfort does home offer a man if his meals aren't even considered important? How can he feel that he is important to his wife, if she doesn't understand his need for rest and recreation or a quiet place to work in the evening?

It may take a good deal of organization and more effort than she is putting into her job as she is doing it now, but this wife could make the kind of home for her husband that he needs.

If she doesn't, she is asking for trouble, and it isn't likely to be long in coming.

O God, give us peace in our time. May swords be turned to plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, that nation may war no more against nation, and men may dwell together in unity. Take from our hearts the evil that is the source of all war, that we may together follow the Prince of Peace, our Lord and Redeemer. Amen.

What's Right?

You make a social blunder.

WRONG: Keep dwelling on it in your own mind, wondering how you could have been so stupid and finally deciding that you just haven't the social graces and probably never will have.

RIGHT: If the blunder necessitates an apology, make it. But then put the incident out of your mind. It won't linger in the minds of others and shouldn't in yours as everyone makes social blunders occasionally.

If no fertilizer were used on U. S. farm crops, production would be at least 25 per cent lower.

Anne Lise Stray Tells Dixon AAUW Of Norway Home

Norway provided members of the Dixon chapter of the American Association of University Women their speaker Monday evening, April 28, at Loveland Community House, when a charming and friendly representative of that courageous maritime country spoke before the group.

Miss Anne Lise Stray, now one of the five foreign-born women in Illinois attending a university on one of the 51 fellowship grants provided by this national organization, is a law student at the University of Chicago where she is especially interested in journalism having worked on Norwegian papers before coming to the United States. Now Miss Stray lives at an International House on the Chicago campus and is one of 500 students who have come from almost every country in the world for advanced study.

Miss Stray's 200-year-old home is on a small island at the southern tip of the peninsula. It is heated by electricity which is both cheap and plentiful due to abundant water power but otherwise is far from modern as we understand the term.

Parents Lawyers
Both of Miss Stray's parents are lawyers as is her sister now an appointed judge far north in the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Like other Norwegian children, Miss Stray started to school at six and in the fourth grade began the study of English, French, and German. She is a graduate in law from the University of Oslo, a five-year course.

The government pays the expenses of educating the children who may later repay if they wish. Children must attend school until they are past 14. Colleges and private schools as we know them do not exist in Norway.

When asked about professions for women, Miss Stray said that they study to be doctors, dentists, beauty operators, teachers (the majority of elementary and high school teachers are women), "but not so many are lawyers."

Home Town
Her home town, a city of some 12,000, has three large daily newspapers all of which rely on the International News Service and the Associated Press. Norwegian papers give no publicity to divorce, crime, suicide (Norway, a land of small towns and an out-of-door life whose people are little interested in psychological study, has an unusually small rate of "any news" which gives pain to readers.) Miss Stray, is much interested in problems relating to a free press and copyright laws.

Attending sessions in some of Chicago's courts, Miss Stray was much impressed by the great judicial dignity of our law courts and the extreme care which judges take to arrive at the truth of a case being sure that no conviction is made without proof of guilt. She does not, however, like our jury system.

Responding to many eager questions, Miss Stray said that the 1,000-year-old kingdom of Norway is much like England politically. The state pays the minister of the state church (Lutheran). The income of the country is in ships and most of the money comes from fishing. "We are an old fashioned country," says Miss Stray. "We walk miles. We wash twice a year. Fish pudding, which is our main dish, looks like your mashed potatoes. We do not have bridge parties like you, but we always serve coffee and cakes at our social gatherings."

The government pays pensions to mothers and to the very old. In fact, Miss Stray states, "Norway has the highest tax rate of any country in the world now." It has a small population of only 3,000,000 and few cities are large.

The women at the door greeted the guests in true hobo style with their red bandana aprons and each guest was handed their lunch in a paper bag attached to a stick. The center of the large serving table resembled a huge bonfire. Each member served themselves to coffee from coffee pots placed on the tables.

Truce Talks in Recess While Communists Consider UN Plan

MUNSAN, Korea.—(AP)—Korean truce talks were in complete recess today for the first time in five months. The United Nations command waited for Communist reaction to a secret Allied proposal for an armistice.

It is up to the Communists to set the date of the next meeting.

The proposal delivered Monday was described officially only as "an over-all solution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice."

That means it wrapped up in one package the dispute over how to exchange prisoners of war, the Red demand for the right to rebuild their war-wrecked military airfields, and Communist nomination of Russia as a truce supervisor.

There was widespread belief that the proposal centered on prisoner exchange.

The Chicago Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, said Tuesday the Allies offered to approve rebuilding of airfields in North Korea during a truce if the Communists will be satisfied with the return of three out of five prisoners of war.

The dispatch, written by Frederick Kuh, said:

"Allied experts in Washington think there is better than a 50-50 chance that after further tough bargaining an armistice will be agreed to on lines close to the new U.N. offer."

There was no official comment from U.N. truce negotiators.

The Communists have insisted

Elgin Firm Gets Ogle-DeKalb Highway Bid

Bid of the firm was $207,545.

In Whiteside county, contract for repairs on 3.43 miles of pavement apparently will go to the Quad City Construction Co., Rock Island, for its bid of $392,428.

Pavement to be repaired is Rt. 30 from two miles northwest of Morrison northwest 1.4 miles, and from one mile northwest of Union Grove northwest two miles.

Other apparent low bidders were announced by the division on road improvements costing more than $12,000,000. Since the first of the year, the division said, the state has opened bids on projects exceeding $32,000,000.

Pat Dunphy Rejoins Fire Force Here

Pat Dunphy, 504 S. Ottawa, who only two months ago resigned from the Dixon fire department, today was renamed to the force by the police and fire commission.

Last night, along with the five candidates for the fire captaincy, Dunphy took tests to return to the department before Commission members Elmer Jones and George Kaufman.

According to Kaufman, Dunphy will probably return to the department May 1.

The five firemen who applied for the fire captain's post were: Ed Pierce, now acting fire captain; Robert Wilhelm, Elwood Cruse, Burt Woodworth and Eugene Frell. The papers for these candidates, said Kaufman, have not been graded but it is expected that the new captain will be named by tomorrow. He will also move into his new post May 1.

Accident Delays Court Appearance Of Evanston Boy

Robert Scott Switzer, the 18-year-old youth who was to appear Thursday in Circuit court on charges of stealing the auto of Atty. James Bales, is in St. Francis hospital, Chicago, recovering from an accident in which he broke his leg.

The mishap, which occurred Sunday in Evanston, will probably force a continuance of his appearance.

The grand jury indicted Switzer and two other Evanston teenagers on the Feb. 17 theft and Switzer, through his attorney Donald Valle, had pleaded guilty and asked for probation.

There was no indication, said Valle, who received word of the accident from Switzer's family, as to how long the youth would be inactive.

Fish Have a Big Role in Our World Position, Deserve 'Cabinet Status' Says Industry Chief

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Many people think of fish as something we eat more of during Lent. Royal Toner, president of the National Fisheries Institute, thinks of it also as a vital factor in our national economy and in our world position today.

The Fisheries Institute includes the leading American fishermen, primary processors, canners, sellers, smokers, freezers, distributors and boat owners, a $2 billion industry that employs more than 550,000 men and women.

"Fish and shell fish, being top sources of protein, play a vital role in international tensions," he explained. "For example, Red China is protein starved. The Chinese, not being seafaring people, have failed to develop the sources of protein in her coastal waters. Except of Siberia, Russia has very little seafood and that is frozen nine months of the year. She is therefore short of protein food for her millions."

There has never been a world war when all the countries involved had enough protein for their people, Toner pointed out. "The importance of fish to our national economy and to international peace is so towering that it should be recognized with full cabinet status."

Toner, massive but soft-spoken, nearly 40 years in the oyster growing business, fears our enemies may discover the remaining fishing areas in the world before we do.

While he ate a lunch of oysters on the half shell, followed by the first shad of the season from Georgia waters, he explained that fishing areas are controlled by international treaties. The first coun-

ROYAL TONER: Fishing makes Alaska richer than its gold.

Russia. Since World War II, Russia has refused to renew those leased rights.

"On the western shore of South America, particularly off Chile, lies one of the richest fishing areas in the world. In the past 10 years freezing plants have been installed there and frozen fish has been exported to the U.S. competing with our fish processed by higher paid labor."

He called attention to Alaska. "All its gold and minerals together," he said, "do not compare with the wealth the Alaskan fishing industry has brought to this country."

The future of fishing rights in oceans of the world is more important than land rights, according to Toner, who added: "as compared with what remains to be explored in the sea, land areas offer little hope of wealth to be gained by exploration."

The last frontier for the explorer is the sea, in his judgment. If sources in the vast oceans of the world, we can accomplish two ends:

Aid the hungry peoples without depleting our own resources. (The world population is increased by 165,000 each day.)

Add to our national wealth at a time when threat of war puts an increasing strain on our national economy.

"Certainly, with billions now being spent for defense, more money should be allocated to the Fish and Wild Life Service of the Department of the Interior. We must begin to stockpile new fishing areas just as we are stockpiling steel, uranium, and other vital materials," he said.

Rio to N. Y. Plane Overdue; 50 on Board

BUENOS AIRES.—(AP)—A Pan-American Stratocruiser carrying 50 persons was overdue today on a flight from Rio De Janeiro to Trinidad, en route to New York.

Pan-American's office here at one time this afternoon said the plane had landed safely at Belem, Brazil. Later Pan-American said this report apparently was untrue.

(Pan-American in New York likewise said it had no confirmation of the Belem landing report.)

Several hours had passed since the plane was first reported missing. It was due at Port of Spain, Trinidad, at 8 a. m. CST. The 14 million dollar, double-decked plane left Rio De Janeiro last night. The flight originated in Buenos Aires.

The missing plane, named the Clipper Good Hope, was on a non-stop schedule for the 2,600 miles from Rio De Janeiro to Trinidad. It carried 41 passengers and a crew of nine.

Teenager Breaks Probation, Gets Fine, Extension

Lloyd Kemp, Dixon, last Wednesday broke his probation ruling when he was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Today, the day his two-year probation was to expire, he had it extended for another year and also received a $50 fine for contempt of court.

The youth had been a passenger in the car driven by Raymond Henley, 202 Croyse, which was picked up by Sheriff Charles Redebaugh last Wednesday.

Kemp had been on probation for entering a home and causing damage.

When Judge Grover Gehant found that Kemp had failed to keep up payments on damages in the first offense and also had failed to report regularly to the probation officer, he found him guilty of contempt of court.

Kemp is to pay the fine and the remainder of the other damages in weekly $10 installments.

Ike's Backers Predict Victory In Massachusetts Primary Vote

BOSTON — (AP) — Another major battle for Republican presidential delegates and popular support began in Massachusetts today, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's managers forecast the election would give him "a clear cut victory" over Sen. Robert A. Taft.

A regular down-east "nor'easter," bringing rain and cold, was expected to cut back the total vote. Even so, political analysts believe it may triple the 1948 figure of 124,000.

Preferential voting permits the people to ballot directly for the presidential candidate, as well as for his delegate-candidates.

Massachusetts has 38 Republican convention delegates. Two each already have been allotted to Taft and Eisenhower, and six will go to the convention uncommitted. The remaining 28 will be elected today. Both candidates have full slates in the 14 districts.

Some of Eisenhower's backers have claimed he would win all 28, but others place the figure at 20 to 24.

If their forecasts are accurate, Eisenhower will draw almost every delegate won up to this point in national campaigning. An Associated Press tabulation, based on known alignments of delegates, put Taft's total at 285 and Eisenhower's at 234. Taft's managers, however, claim more than 300.

Taft campaigned personally in a three-day swing through Massachusetts last week. On the ballot, the names of his delegate-candidates are designated as "pledged" or "favorable" to him.

Eisenhower's are not, since he did not give formal consent to having his name entered in this primary when the filing was done. To counter-act this apparent disadvantage, his managers said they have sent out thousands of sample ballots, identifying his delegate-candidates.

The Democratic election today looks to be relatively quiet. Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, has a slate of pledge candidates in one district running against the Democratic organization candidates. The party is electing 72 delegates with 36 convention votes.

Asks Cooperatives Be Placed Under Anti-Trust Laws

CHICAGO — (AP) — A Cincinnati businessman today urged that farm cooperatives and labor organizations "should be brought under the anti-trust laws."

Edward Wimmer, vice president of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, Inc., addressed the National Independent Meat Packers Association.

Wimmer said decentralization is needed in agriculture, industry, finance, labor and government. He said legislation should be adopted "for the purpose of unwinding all major mergers which have been put together in violation of the spirit of the anti-trust laws."

"The giant farm co-ops," he declared, "now selling everything from clothespins to tractors, and running everything from oil wells to grocery stores, should be brought under the anti-trust laws and 'unmerged' along with the private combines."

"All labor organizations bargaining with corporations doing business nationally, should be brought under the anti-trust laws."

Voters' League Worried About 'Pink' Label

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
CINCINNATI — (AP) — Pamphleteers shouting "Un-American!" at the League of Women Voters are hurting the organization, the group's president said today.

Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., said that an increasing number of organizations, all generally unknown by the public, have been trying to hang a "pink label" on the league.

She brought the point up in her address to some 950 delegates yesterday, convening here in their 20th biennial convention.

These attacks, said Mrs. Lee, do not appear in newspapers. Small groups, she said, print them in pamphlets and mail them around the country.

"The trouble is," she continued, "that these 'pink labels' often serve to confuse good citizens—particularly businessmen."

"Some people believe these things," Mrs. Lee said that the League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization, solely interested in good government.

She declined to name the hostile groups.

Today, the League resumes discussion of its agenda for action for the next two years. Broadly, the two topics that the league is concerned with are:

1. Foreign affairs — Measures which contribute to world security, with emphasis on the use of the United Nations.
2. Domestic affairs — Measures which contribute to economy in federal expenditures.

Three ratings of excellent and two more of superior have been recorded by the Dixon high school music department at the state final music competition festival in Champaign-Urbana.

Participating in the festival at the University of Illinois campus from Dixon high school were the school choir, the high school band and several individual entries.

The festival was for Class A and Class AA schools in the state. It was held last Friday and Saturday.

The trio received its excellent rating for the playing of the "Mer-rimint Polka." In other individual competition, George Tyler, trombone, received a superior rating for his playing of "La Petite Suzanne," and Marianna Metz, low voice, received a good rating for singing "When the Roses Bloom," and "The Roof Garden."

All three were accompanied by Beisi Hoon.

One hundred and five local students participated in the band and chorus competition. Each group gave three numbers and sight-read one other.

The school choir, under the direction of Miss Alexandria Psiris, was awarded a good rating for prepared numbers, and excellent for sight-reading and a final rating of good.

The band, under the direction of Robert L'Heureux, received a good rating for its prepared numbers, a superior for sight-reading and a final rating of excellent.

Find New Use For Cortisone

BOSTON — (AP) — Synthetic "guinea pigs" are the latest marvels produced by the newest wonder hormone, cortisone.

These synthetics are animals which after receiving cortisone treatments before subject to human diseases they never have normally. That makes them useful for medical experiments.

This new medical exploration was reported in a number of papers today to the annual meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists.

By this use of cortisone, rabbits at the University of Minnesota are getting typhoid fever.

"Three Minutes To Twelve"

"Three Minutes to Twelve" is the challenging title to an only-of-its-kind film running for thirty-eight minutes, in color and sound. This truly outstanding picture from the production facilities of Missions Visualized, Inc., was made for the Assemblies of God.

The film carries its viewers into the heart of the world's miracle nation, Israel. An excellent animated map reminds us of the position of Palestine on the historic "bottle highway of the world." There is further historic placement in well-photographed ruins of the Jewish-Arab wars, the now deserted Walling Wall in the old city of Jerusalem, and an excellent panorama of the city, showing prophetic expansion of the Holy City in all directions but east. The cave of the shepherds, the Church of the Nativity, views of the newly found Isaiah manuscript and a visit to Calvary and the Garden tomb all serve to provide a setting for the amazing scenes of fulfilled prophecy which follow.

Probably the most thrilling scenes are those which show the regathering of Israel to its own land from all parts of the earth. Many of them openly state they return to welcome the Messiah. The film recreates the feeling Ezekiel had when watching the valley of dry bones come into shape as a living nation.

Every Church and Christian school should see this film. The effect is to inspire, and convince that the hour on God's time clock may well be "Three Minutes to Twelve." This film will be shown at the Assembly of God church, 404 Spruce Street in Dixon, Wednesday evening, April 30th, 8 o'clock, free admission. The public is invited. If you are interested in the fulfillment of prophecy, DON'T MISS IT. —Adv.

Reopen Inquiry Into Death of College Student

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. — (AP) — An inquest into the fatal shooting last February of Millard Romaine Jr., 19-year-old Williams college student, will be reopened May 14.

The reopening of the inquiry was scheduled for tomorrow but was put off to the May date by District Court Judge Henry W. Kaliss at the request of the district attorney's office last night.

Judge Kaliss had said he wanted the case reopened "because there are some features on which I wish further testimony."

Medical Examiner George T. Mullen gave an opinion of suicide in the original inquest.

Romaine's body was found in a little-used room of a fraternity house the day after a carnival weekend on the campus. Member of a prominent Cincinnati family, he died of a bullet wound.

Oil Workers Set to Strike On Wednesday

DENVER—(AP)—Many of the nation's oil refineries today prepared to close down operations as the hour for a projected strike of an estimated 100,000 oil workers neared.

"The chances of a settlement are growing dimmer every hour," commented one oil company official. "Unless the government steps in the plants will be idle by midnight Thursday."

The Oil Workers International Union (CIO) has called for a strike at 12:01 a. m., local time, tomorrow, to enforce its demand for a 25 cent an hour wage boost and higher differentials for night work. Oil workers pay now averages $2 to $2.10 per hour.

O. A. Knight, OIUW president, said yesterday the strike—originally set for March 3 but postponed three times at government request—will take place this time "unless collective bargaining produces a satisfactory settlement of the wage dispute before the deadline hour."

In Washington, meantime, top mediation service officials said they were "optimistic" that the strike could be averted.

The OIUW group, which heads a coalition of 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions, has not disclosed an over-all list of refineries which would be involved in the strike.

Raid Sororities For Undies, Cops Called at Purdue

LA FAYETTE, IND. —(AP)—About 500 Purdue university students raided sorority houses for souvenir undergarments last night and brought out 30 police.

One student, released after questioning, told police the idea sprang from a magazine article about similar forays in other schools. Some of the men were carrying women's panties and brassieres.

Two co-eds suffered slight cuts when a window was broken at the Pi Beta Phi sorority house.

Police Chief Jay Watson of West La Fayette said there was some minor damage at five sorority houses and at Wood Hall, a woman's dormitory. The rampage was quelled in about two and a half hours.

Police picked up identification papers from a number of students and turned them over to Dr. Donald Mallett, director of student affairs. Mallett said the students will be subject to action by the faculty-student council on student affairs.

Name St. Louis Man as Slayer Of Tavern Owner

MADISON, ILL. —(AP)—Thomas L. Lawrence, 34, of St. Louis, was charged with murder yesterday in the weekend killing of night club owner Thaddeus R. Skeer, alias Jack Kelly, 51.

Authorities still are seeking Lawrence.

Skeer was shot to death at his bar early Sunday before an estimated 250 customers who almost wrecked the club as they rushed from it. Madison county liquor control commissioner Gus Haller ordered the club, the Hi-Ho, closed yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney George J. Moran asked for the warrant against Lawrence after Madison Police Sgt. Emmett Pazio, who was a few feet from the killer at the time, identified a picture of Lawrence as that of the slayer.

Pazio, at the club in plain clothes in a jewel theft investigation, was unable to get a shot at the man when he fled through the crowd.

Skeer was shot through the chest. County authorities said the bullet emerged from Skeer's back and struck a woman customer in the hip. She was picked up in St. Louis yesterday for questioning.

Lawrence was released under $2,500 bond on a charge of assault with attempt to kill in the shooting of Roy Ashby, Murphysboro, Ill., in another club near East St. Louis Dec. 29.

Daylight Time Puts Students On Tardy Basis

SULLIVAN, Ind. — (AP) — A squabble over daylight saving time has put the 420 pupils in Sullivan's schools on a perpetually tardy basis.

The school buses have continued their rounds on standard time, though the city and school classes switched to a daylight time schedule Monday.

Jesse Smith, Hamilton township trustee, who directs the bus operation, said he's bound by a 1949 state law that requires governmental units to stay on standard time.

Like the city council, the school board got around that by moving school hours up an hour, and Superintendent Phil Eskew said that's the way it will stay.

"Mandarin" was formerly the common name for all public officials in China.

Girl Stowaways Pose Problem In Far Pacific

GUAM —(AP)—Two girl stowaways who were lured to this Far Pacific island by their "love of excitement and adventure" just want to go home. But that's 6,000 miles away.

Jerle McDaniel, 26, Walnut Grove, Calif., and Maxine Allen, 23, Tacoma, Wash., with tears in their eyes, told U. S. Attorney James Mackey they wanted to go home. But Mackey said the only way he can send them back is to place charges and return them as prisoners—"and we don't want to do that."

The air force, which unsuspectingly furnished their transportation in a B-29 from McClellan field, Sacramento, Calif., last week, is reluctant to give them return passage.

The girls haven't enough money to pay their own way. And they can't expect help from the two airmen they said smuggled them aboard the B-29. The air force says it may file charges against Airmen Dewey H. Meeks, Greenwood, Miss., and Robert L. Quick, Rifle, Colo.

Mackey said the girls may be given temporary employment here to help pay their own way home.

Newspapers Pick Russell to Top Estes in South

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell's deep south traditions and solid official support should give him a clean-cut victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver in their Florida presidential popularity poll May 6, in the opinion of the state's newspapers.

It will be the south's only presidential preference primary this year, and the first test of popular strength between the candidates from Georgia and Tennessee.

Editors and political writers from 31 daily and 30 weekly newspapers participated in an associated press survey. The consensus gave Russell 55.2 per cent, Kefauver 41.7 per cent. Two political unknowns from Miami were conceded the few remaining votes.

Florida's 24 delegates won't even be selected until the second primary, May 27. That will give the voters three weeks to change their minds.

'General Ku' and 'Ambassador Ma' Now in Jap Vocabulary

TOKYO—(AP)—Japanese newspaper readers met a couple of new characters on the front page this morning.

One is "Ku-Taisho" and the other "Ma-Taishi."

That's Japanese headlines for Gen. Mark W. Clark and Ambassador Robert D. Murphy.

The Japanese spoken language has five vowels and about 50 combinations of vowels and consonants. All together they don't add up to half the sounds in English. When Japanese pronounce English names, the results can be fearful.

Clark, in full, comes out "Ku-R-Ku." Murphy is "Ma-Fi."

But Japanese headline writers cut Clark's name to three squiggly Japanese characters—pronounced "Ku" for Clark and "Taisho" for General. That makes him "General Ku." Murphy's name comes out "Ma-Taishi" or "Ambassador Ma."

Other world personages get the same treatment.

Truman, spelled out, is "To-Ru-Man." The headline writers make the Manchus conquered China in the 17th Century.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The board of education is mulling a very grave problem indeed: Whether to authorize use of 155,000 report cards on which a word is misspelled.

Although the proofs were okayed, the cards came back from the printer with the "U" and the "A" in the word "language" transposed. It costs $1,389.50 to have the cards reprinted.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson is "Ah-Che-Son Kp-kumo Chokan." That means "Acheson state department chief." Headlines cut that to "Ah-Chokan," or "Chief Am."

Pronunciation of Winston Churchill's name is fantastically difficult—"Chi-Ya-Chi-Hi-Ru." So he seldom gets his name in a Japanese newspaper. He's usually given the dignified title of "El-Shu-Sho." That's "English-country prime minister."

BETTER WHEAT VARIETIES

Better winter wheat varieties have increased winter wheat yields 15 per cent more in Illinois than in the country as a whole since 1900.

Witness Gone, Meat Robbery Case Delayed

CHICAGO—(AP)—The trial of five men charged with armed robbery in connection with the horse meat scandal has been continued to June 2 because prosecutors in the case said the key witness has disappeared.

Martin Brodtkin, assistant state's attorney, was granted the postponement yesterday by Criminal Court Judge Wilbert F. Crowley.

Brodtkin said the prosecution's chief witness, Ed Garon, former meat company owner, escaped from a police guard Saturday night and has not been seen since.

Garon had been the chief witness before the grand jury which indicted on armed robbery charges Russell Minneka, Joseph Siciliano, Charles Koemund, Kelly Munott and Frank Dominie.

Garon reportedly told the jury the men pistol-whipped him and robbed him of $1,200 last July shortly before his meat packing company was taken over by horse meat racketeers.

Siciliano, 31, of Chicago, and Minneka, 34, of Lake Geneva, Wis., also are charged with conspiracy to sell horse meat for human consumption.

Blind War Vet Rescues Woman From Gas Death

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Anthony Valentino, 35, a blind World War II vet, stopped yesterday to chat with his friend, Miss Lucy Mahchetti, 30, clerk in a neighborhood cleaning shop. He heard a weak call for help and recognized the voice.

Smelling gas Valentino, groped his way around until he found the motionless body of his friend. He dragged her to the street.

Rescue squad workers said Miss Mahchetti had been overcome by illuminating gas. She was treated and discharged from a hospital.

Chrysler V-8 Saratoga Sedan, gasoline economy winner in Class "F". Entered and driven in the 1952 Mobil Oil Gas Economy Run by Chrysler Dealer Mel Alsbury, Hollywood. It was one of three Chrysler FirePower V-8's to win in their respective classes.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines!

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145 1/2-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel these substantial cars at this speed under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here is the finest and most efficient engine ever put into an American passenger car!

WE INVITE YOU TO DRIVE THIS ENGINE, YOURSELF...

The same engine which has just scored these remarkable accomplishments is no farther from you than your own Chrysler Dealer. He will welcome the chance to let you take the wheel and feel for yourself what Chrysler has done . . . not only in FirePower engine performance, but in full-time power steering, power brakes, new Oriflow shock absorbers, and passenger comfort . . . to deserve the title: "Finest Car America Has Yet Produced!"

United States Chamber Asks Abolishment of Wage Board

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States chamber of commerce today heard a demand for abolition of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), which, the chamber was told, soon will "capitulate" to wage demands of oil and aluminum workers and coal miners.

"Employers themselves will do a better job of stabilizing wages than the board has done," Theodore R. Eiserman, New York attorney, told a chamber session on government controls.

Stimulates Wages

Eiserman said that WSB, by "invariably exceeding its own regulations when the pressure was great," has stimulated union demands for extravagant wage boosts. "All in all, the board has proved itself to be not a wage stabilization board but a wage stimulation board," he said.

Congress should at least remove

Congress should at least remove

Senate Group Whacks Million Off Aid Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A senate committee has whacked an even billion dollars off the $7,900,000,000 foreign aid bill and a Republican leader predicted today a strong floor move would be made to almost double this cut.

The foreign relations group voted 9-3 late yesterday to reduce the bill to $6,900,000,000—a 12.66 per cent slash to be distributed evenly among all items in the measure.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), the minority leader, told a reporter a floor effort would be made to trim further to six billion dollars.

The bill authorizes extension of the Mutual Security program for fiscal 1953 starting July 1. It carries allotments for American allies all over the world.

The overseas program has been one of the chief targets of congressional budget-cutting advocates in this election year and in fiscal 1953.

Administration witnesses contended the money was badly needed to bolster countries that would meet the first shock of any Russian attack.

The senate committee vote made it certain that the final amount will be less than the $7,900,000,000 appropriated last year.

Mississippi Levees Hold at Most Points; Clinton Flooded

MUSCATINE, Ia.—(AP)— The Mississippi river maintained a steady pressure today against flood-softened dikes on the Illinois and Iowa shores.

The levees continued to hold at all points, but all up and down the river the people redoubled their keen watch for any possible breaks in the embankments that protect numerous towns and thousands of acres of farm land.

The peak pressure was on the dikes protecting this city of 19,500 and on those directly across the river holding the mighty flood out of about 6,000 acres of Illinois farm land in the Drury drainage district.

Meanwhile, the Missouri river pushed its crest through Central Missouri. The top level was expected to arrive at St. Louis Thursday, a day earlier than previously forecast. The revised crest for St. Louis has been reduced from 35 feet to 31.3 feet.

Muscatine city officials reported the Mississippi remained at 21 feet early today, the same level it reached at 4 a. m. yesterday. That was believed to be the crest.

The river had closed highway 61 at Muscatine, but police said there was no serious flood problem here.

But Clinton, 65 miles upstream, was having plenty of problems. Water backing up in the sewers had divided the city in three parts. The two Mississippi river bridges remained close to truck traffic and the river had claimed a large area of lowland near Fulton, Ill.

At Davenport, where the crest arrived yesterday, officials reported only minor difficulties with the great stream.

Up the river from here, Dubuque was beginning clean up and rehabilitation operations as the river sank a half foot from its crest. The Dubuque Packing Co. had resumed partial operations.

Razor King Weds Nurse

HARTSDALE, N. Y. —(AP)— Henry Jacques Gaisman, 33, philanthropist and retired safety razor king, and Miss Kitty Vance, 33, a nurse, were married April 18, it was disclosed today.

Justice of the Peace Louis M. Galgano of Greensburgh said he performed the ceremony at Gaisman's Westchester county estate.

Gaisman retired as chairman of the board of the Gillette Safety Razor Co., in 1938. He is reputed to be worth more than 25 million dollars.

Utah Battles Worst Flood In History

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Thousands of workers battled Utah's worst flood crisis in history today, attempting to control surging streams fed by melting snow.

The flood waters knocked out a railroad bridge, ripped out a dam, drove families from their homes, blocked highway traffic and continued to spread over farmlands.

At Nephi, an 11-year-old boy tumbled into the Big Hollow creek, and was swept downstream but was rescued unharmed.

Streets in Salt Lake City were sandbagged into emergency canals to carry off the overflow from several canyons to the east in the Wasatch mountains.

The Jordan river, carrying the west side Salt Lake City runoff into the Great Salt Lake spilled over its banks near the Salt Lake county fairgrounds.

"This is the most dangerous flood situation the city has ever faced," said City Engineer Roy W. McCleese. "It's anybody's guess whether we can continue to control it."

Scores of families have been evacuated including about 35 in Coalville and at least 55 in Salt Lake City.

Taft Predicts He'll Have 650 Delegates

YOUNGSTOWN, O. — (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) authorized a prediction today he would have 650 delegates pledged on June 3, the date of the final state primary.

If he could hold that number until the Republican convention opens, it would be enough to win the presidential nomination on the first ballot.

The 650 figure was given out at a news conference attended by the senator and his Northern Ohio campaign manager, Paul Walter. Taft authorized Walter's use of the figure.

At the present time, he claimed, he has 305 delegates pledged to him out of the 600 selected by state primary elections and at state party conventions.

This season Ken has made out the checks for the winners in the different leagues to the team captains. Instead of the individual and the checks for all the Recreation leagues are now made out and Ken hopes the various captains will pick them up as soon as possible and distribute the money to their team members. According to the scores sent in by Ben McDermott, the first night of the women's city tournament at the Recreation has Hal Roberts in the top spot of the team event with 247. Studebaker Sales had the second high with 259 and the Landmark was third with 201. Joan Case has the best start on all the events with 563 the high total of the night. The tournament continues tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

The schedule we have for the ERO league had two more nights of play with May 4 and May 11 still to be called consequently we published the schedule for next Sunday but Ed tells us the league took a vote to curtail the league on account of the City Association tournament and cut the last two nights so the only league bowling remaining at the Lane's is tonight the last night for the Vets league and Friday night the finale for the Church league. Both nights being a make-up for nights lost from the regular schedule. The mixed doubles tournament at the Recreation is still going and you may roll in it any afternoon until Friday when it takes over both afternoon and evening with the exception of the mixed league on Sunday night. The tourney will run until May 15. The Lane's will also be open for practice for any of the leagues wanting a try-out before taking the playoffs in the City tournament. A few comments we overlooked from last week in the Wednesday afternoon loop.

TIME AND TIME AGAIN—Slightly more complicated, than your wristwatch—is this giant sun dial clock, built by the "House of Ungerer," famed clockmakers of Strasbourg, France. It is destined to adorn the City Hall at Oslo, Norway. Circled by the 12 signs of the zodiac, it shows Oslo local time, sidereal time, sun rising and setting times, sun and moon positions in relation to the constellations of the zodiac, moon phases and solar and lunar eclipses.

U. S. BOUND—Former King Zog, of Albania, his wife, Queen Geraldine, and their son, Prince Lelca, pose together during their celebration of the Prince's 13th birthday in Alexandria, Egypt. The one-time royal family of Albania is scheduled to take up permanent residence in the U. S. this summer.

MOTHERS! Now Serve Your Family the Only White Bread That Offers You 71% More Protein Benefit!

Mothers! Your Youngsters Need Adequate Protein in Daily Diets for Proper Growth and Development!

Without adequate protein, children may show vague symptoms of fatigue, may have reduced muscle volume and poor posture. They may not grow so tall as those who have adequate protein... may not recover so quickly from illness or injury.

The youngster with adequate protein in his diet, on the other hand, has a far better chance to grow and develop properly, to be active and happy and alert, to build and maintain a sturdy, healthy body, and to resist disease or recover more rapidly when illness or injury strikes.

The "Heart of Milk" protein included in this new bread gives children more of the vital protein nutrition they need!

By providing a better balanced cereal protein, this new loaf with "Heart of Milk" offers you MORE protein benefit. Serve it at every meal! Help your children grow and develop properly... help yourself to maintain endurance and resistance... help the older members of your family rebuild worn out body tissue. Get this new loaf with "Heart of Milk" protein now!

New, Better Bread Is Favorite Choice for Lunchboxes

Local homemakers agree that this new loaf with "Heart of Milk" protein makes wonderful, tasty sandwiches. The smooth, even texture, matchless flavor, and "stay-fresh" qualities — plus its great new body-building benefits — make it ideal for lunchboxes.

To Doctors and Nutritionists...

There has long been a real need for a white bread with sufficient amounts of lysine, valine, tryptophan, and other important amino acids to balance the amino acids present in white flour.

There is ample evidence that the proteins of white bread are deficient in these nutritionally required amino acids and that milk proteins are ideally suited to supplement these specific deficiencies in such a way that the individual eating the bread will obtain not only extra protein from the milk products added but also obtain more nearly the full value of the proteins of the flour. In other words, with a milk protein concentrate, it is possible for the body to utilize almost all the protein present in the bread instead of only a portion of it, as is the case with many white breads.

Briefly, then, a pre-determined amount of concentrate of milk protein in bread has been shown to effect a significant improvement in the nutritive value of the protein in bread.

The new concentrate of milk protein, "Heart of Milk" added to our formula in recommended amounts, enables each loaf to contain more of these vital elements in better balance.

Because of the danger of inadequate protein nutrition due to the large amounts of unbalanced proteins often consumed in proportion to the total protein intake, this new loaf with "Heart of Milk" protein added can make an important contribution to the daily diet.

Even "Well-Fed" People May Have Protein Deficiency

Because many of the foods Americans eat today may contain unbalanced proteins with lower nutritional quality, there is always a possibility of inadequate protein nutrition, even in people who consider themselves well fed.

If a protein contains certain of the essential amino acids in too limited quantities, the remaining ones — even though abundant — cannot be effectively used by the body. Eight of these vital amino acids cannot be stored by the body — they must be obtained daily from the food eaten. And they must be obtained all at one time — not some at one meal and some at another. If one of these eight essential amino acids is absent from the diet, there is inadequate protein nutrition.

Supplemented by proteins from other sources, with the right quantities and proportions of essential amino acids, these unbalanced proteins can be vastly improved, nutrition-wise.

This, basically, is what the addition of "Heart of Milk" protein to this new loaf means — that milk protein, containing better quantities and proportions of essential amino acids, has been added to give a loaf with increased nutrition value.

Protein Is Necessary in Work and Rest

The amount of work a person does or the amount of energy he expends does not vary the amount of protein needed. A person who sits quietly all day needs just as much protein as one who does strenuous physical labor, hour after hour.

There is a certain amount of body tissue and body cells that must be reproduced and repaired each day, regardless of the work done.

New Peter Pan with "Heart of Milk" Offers More Body-Building Protein Benefit... Yet Costs You No More

Protein is one of the most important food elements — necessary for growth and development, for maintenance and repair of body tissue, and for building resistance. It takes protein to build and repair every single cell that makes up your body. There are, however, different grades of protein — some high in nutritional quality, some low, because they are unbalanced.

Quality of Protein Important

The quality of a protein is determined by the quantity and proportions of amino acids it contains. Scientists have found that when certain of these amino acids are present in insufficient amounts, the effectiveness of the rest of the amino acids — even if they are abundant — is reduced, making the protein low in nutritional value. Because the proteins of cereal grains, or "cereal proteins," as they are called, are deficient in a few of the essential amino acids, principally lysine, the remainder of the protein cannot be properly used by the body and is, therefore, unbalanced and low in nutritional quality.

Scientists have also found, however, that when an unbalanced protein is combined with a protein containing the right quantities and proportions of amino acids, the nutritional quality is greatly increased, by providing properly balanced protein.

Improves Quality of Protein

Most white bread is enriched with vitamins and minerals — the requirements by law in many states. And all white bread contains cereal protein from the flour that goes into it. Unfortunately, though, this cereal protein is unbalanced, nutritionally. But "Heart of Milk" protein is ideally suited to balance the deficient amino acids of the cereal protein in bread. So when "Heart of Milk" protein is added to bread, it not only increases the amount of protein in every loaf, but also reinforces the nutritional quality of the cereal protein to provide MORE body-building protein benefit.

At No Extra Cost to You

As a result, a diet including this new bread — the only bread containing "Heart of Milk" — will give you and your family more protein and better protein, at no extra cost.

First Class Protein Is Needed at Each Meal

Every meal should contain some complete protein, with the essential amino acids present in the right quantities and proportion, to satisfy the needs of your body. If even one essential amino acid is lacking, general protein deficiency can result.

Through the addition of "Heart of Milk" protein, this new loaf now provides a better balanced protein. Included as a regular part of the diet, this bread can help you avoid the danger of protein deficiency.

Lysine is one of the essential amino acids deficient in white flour. Here's what happens with "Heart of Milk," rich in lysine, in our bread.

Similar Products Have Been Used for Years

"Heart of Milk" is a protein concentrate made from milk. Although its addition to our bread formula is new and beneficial, such products are neither new nor untested. For several years, many products of this type have been on the market.

A considerable quantity of such products has been used in the preparation of high protein diets, both in hospitals and in homes. One of the important developments in surgery has been in the feeding of patients, before and following operations, with more nutritious diets, including higher protein values.

The reason for such special diets is that only protein can build and rebuild body tissue. In the case of accident or illness, the body has more than the normal amount of damaged or destroyed tissue to repair and replace. The added protein in these special diets speeds this vital process of repair and replacement and aids in healing wounds and broken bones and in general recovery.

New "Heart of Milk" Protein Has Essential Amino Acids Vital to Good Nutrition

There are, according to scientific research, between 40 and 50 "dietary essentials" required by the human body for the purposes of tissue building, maintenance, and repair. They are termed "essential" because the human body cannot manufacture them but must obtain them from the daily food.

Some elements, such as fats and carbohydrates, may be stored in the tissues for considerable periods of time and used as the body needs them; others must be replaced from day to day. Such is the case with certain essential amino acids, in the form of protein.

Must Be Eaten Daily

Because certain of these amino acids cannot be manufactured by the body and because they are used daily, it is important that they, like other "dietary essentials," be eaten every day. Actually, a diet may provide plenty of calories, vitamins, and salts and still be inadequate for good nutrition if one of the eight essential amino acids

Protein Balanced

"Heart of Milk" protein contains a valuable percentage of lysine and tryptophan, two important amino acids — in addition to the other essential amino acids in the form of protein. These two are present in only limited quantities in white flour from which bread is made. When "Heart of Milk" protein is added to the bread formula, these and the other essential amino acids are present in better quantities and proportions to help you and your family enjoy better nutrition with every slice of this new bread.

"Heart of Milk" protein provides, in combination with the cereal protein present in bread, the essential amino acids in the improved quantities and proportions desirable for good nutrition. Not only do you get added protein in this new loaf — your body will also be able to make better use of the cereal protein already present in enriched white bread.

During World War II, and now in Korea, protein has played an important part in the recovery of wounded servicemen and civilians.

Often the first thing the wounded receive is blood plasma, which is protein, to reduce shock and to help the body fight infection and heal faster.

In hospitals, too, high grade protein is provided in the diets of the wounded, injured and ill, because it is the most important food element for building and rebuilding body tissue. Science has found that a high protein diet helps broken bones to knit and wounds to heal more swiftly.

"Heart of Milk" protein is a high grade protein that will help you and your family build sturdy bodies. This fine new bread with "Heart of Milk" included in your regular diet, along with meat, milk, eggs, fruit, and green and yellow vegetables, will give you more of the important protein you need for growth, resistance, body maintenance and repair.
